In 15 days Wave5 builds a solution that brings immediate value to your organization. Together we'll discuss the challenges of the particular case, after which we work out the right solution in the form of a Proof of Value.

It is important to us that the solution can be used right away. That's why, for 15 days, we will put all our energy and focus into the project. And because your employees will be closely involved in the process, they too become enthusiastic and driven, guaranteeing the result will fit your organization perfectly. That means no long and drawn-out trajectories but fast and fitting solutions instead!

The Wave5 15Days consists of three phases. During the first phase a feasible scope is defined. We transform a plan into a validated business case. Ideas are discussed and prioritized based on impact and feasibility. This is done by using carefully crafted criteria. And then we get to work.

This phase is called the sprint, because we put all our energy and focus into it. The goal of the sprint is to deliver a Proof of Value as quickly as possible. The pace is fast, so results become visible as soon as possible and the energy in the team remains high. During the sprint we continue to communicate clearly with your organization, sharing achieved milestones. This way you can be sure of a solution that everyone can work with immediately. The sprint phase lasts 10 days.

The third and final phase is used to put the finishing touches on the solution. Together we review the results and use your feedback to perfect it. We learn from the daily use of the solution by your organization, making the result better constantly. During this tweak & learn phase the impact of the solution becomes even greater.
